Scott Beck is the Chairman and CEO of UTB Financial Holdings, Inc., the parent company of United Texas Bank. Mr. Beck has worked at some of the top financial institutions in the country where he was instrumental in financing billions of dollars of high-profile projects located throughout the country.

As an Associate Vice-President at JP Morgan Chase and Co.'s Lab Morgan, he focused on new business formation and corporate strategy for the bank globally. Prior to joining JP Morgan Chase, Mr. Beck was a member of SG Cowen's leveraged Finance Group, where he provided support to clients who access the high yield and leveraged finance capital markets. Preceding SG, Mr. Beck was a senior auditor at Ernst and Young LLP.

Mr. Beck serves as the CEO and President of Beck Ventures, Inc. He has directed the development and design of Trophy Club, a 3,500 acre mixed-use master planned city in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. With the acquisition of the 66.5 acres Dallas Midtown, Mr. Beck has led a skilled team of professionals in the rezoning and entitlement process with the City of Dallas, including the establishment of a $432.5 million tax increment financing district ("TIF"), which is the largest TIF implemented in Dallas' history.

Mr. Beck received a Masters of Accounting from the McCombs School of Business at the University of Texas at Austin where he completed his B.B.A. Mr. Beck is a member of the Board of Directors of United Texas Bank. Additionally, Mr. Beck serves on the boards of various educational and charitable organizations.
